Claire Gavard, ZEW

COMPLIANCE AND TRANSPARENCY IN THE PARIS AGREEMENT IMPLEMENTATION

Yamide Dagnet, World Resources Institute

THE IMPORTANCE OF THE PARIS AGREEMENT'S REVIEW PROCESSES AND THEIR ROLE IN SUPPORTING IMPROVED IMPLEMENTATION

ABOUT THE EVENT //

This event will analyze core requirements for crafting effective implementing guidelines under the Paris Agreement and highlight ways in which Parties may operationalize these guidelines. It will focus on themes related to transparency, including on how Parties may operationalize flexibility, and on determinants of and incentives for monitoring, reporting, and compliance from a multi-stakeholder perspective (including Parties, civil society, firms, and individuals). It will also look into efforts to review and promote progress under the Paris Agreement, including individual and collective review, and linkages across different elements of the Paris Agreement.

ABOUT WORLD RESOURCES INSTITUTE (WRI) //

WRI is a global research organization that spans more than 50 countries, with offices in the United States, China, India, Brazil, Indonesia and more. Our more than 700 experts and staff work closely with leaders to turn big ideas into action to sustain our natural resources—the foundation of economic opportunity and human well-being. Our work focuses on six critical issues at the intersection of environment and development: climate, energy, food, forests, water, and cities and transport.

ABOUT CLIMATE CHANGE EXPERT GROUP – OECD //

The Climate Change Expert Group (CCXG) is a group of government delegates and experts from developed and developing countries. The aim of the group is to promote dialogue on and enhance understanding of politically important technical issues in the international climate change negotiations. The group holds two seminars per year which bring together government representatives, the private sector and civil society in order to share information on climate policies and issues. The CCXG also develops papers in consultation with a wide range of countries.

ABOUT THE “ENVIRONMENTAL AND RESOURCE ECONOMICS, ENVIRONMENTAL MANAGEMENT” RESEARCH DEPARTMENT AT ZEW //

The Centre for European Economic Research (ZEW) in Mannheim is an independent, non-profit research institute. ZEW is one of Europe’s leading research institutes in economics with a strong international reputation and is a member of the Leibniz Association, a network of outstanding research institutes in Germany. Ongoing activities of ZEWs Research Department “Environmental and Resource Economics, Environmental Management” include the Kopernikus Project “Energy Transition Navigation System (ENAVI)” and the project “Integrated Assessment of a Green Transformation: An Assessment of Economic, Social, and Technological Transformation Pathways”, both funded by the German Federal Ministry of Education and Research (BMBF).
