1. Are you currently using hedonic methods for official price statistics?	7. H: W = (+49/621/1 • Europe			search
Z. HD. Dietmar Moch Postfach 103443 68034 Mannheim Germany Duestionnaire 1	ZEW C		Europe	an Econ	onne re
1. Are you currently using hedonic methods for official price statistics? yes If yes: how long have you been working with hedonic methods? years years If no: Yes Yes	z. HD. Dietmar Moch Postfach 103443 68034 Mannheim
- If yes: how long have you been working with hedonic methods? years - If no: - Are you planning to introduce hedonic methods? buring the next year During the next five year During the next five year In more than five year In more than five year Does your institution have experience with hedonic methods? yes 2. How would you rate the following attributes using hedonics in comparison to conventional methods Much lower	Questionnaire 1
- If no: - Are you planning to introduce hedonic methods? - If "yes", when? - If "yes", when? - During the next year - During the next five year - During the next year - During th	• •				-		-
- Are you planning to introduce hedonic methods? - If "yes", when? During the next year During the next five year In more than five year Does your institution have experience with hedonic methods? 2. How would you rate the following attributes using hedonics in comparison to conventional methods Much lower Much higher -2 -1 0 1 2 Cost of Data Collection Cost of Data Processing Time-demand Size of Staff Necessary Experience Volume of Data Availability of Data 3. For how many goods are you employing hedonic methods?	- If yes: now long have y	you been	working	with neo	uonic m	etnous?	years
2. How would you rate the following attributes using hedonics in comparison to conventional methods Much lower	- Are you planning to		ce hedon	ic metho	ds?		□ yes □
-2	,		·•		C C	During t In more	he next five y than five year
Cost of Data Collection	Does your institution. 2. How would you rate the fo	on have e	-	e with h	c nedonic	During to During to In more methods?	the next five y than five year yes
Cost of Data Processing Time-demand Size of Staff Necessary Experience Volume of Data Availability of Data 3. For how many goods are you employing hedonic methods?	Does your institution. 2. How would you rate the fo	on have e	attribute	e with h	nedonic s	During to During to In more methods?	he next five y than five year yes up yes up arison to
Time-demand Size of Staff Necessary Experience Volume of Data Availability of Data 3. For how many goods are you employing hedonic methods?	Does your institution. 2. How would you rate the fo	on have e	attribute 1 lower	e with h	nedonic s	During to In more methods? in compa	he next five y than five year yes up yes up arison to
Size of Staff Necessary Experience Volume of Data Availability of Data 3. For how many goods are you employing hedonic methods?	Does your institution. 2. How would you rate the force to the conventional methods	on have e	attributes	e with he susing h	nedonics	During to In more methods? in compa	he next five y than five year yes up yes up arison to
Necessary Experience Volume of Data Availability of Data 3. For how many goods are you employing hedonic methods?	Does your institution 2. How would you rate the force to the force on the conventional methods Cost of Data Collection	on have e	attributes	e with he susing h	nedonics	During to In more methods? in compa	he next five y than five year yes up yes up arison to
Volume of Data Availability of Data 3. For how many goods are you employing hedonic methods?	Does your institution 2. How would you rate the force to be a conventional methods Cost of Data Collection Cost of Data Processing Time-demand	on have e	attributes	e with he susing h	nedonics	During to In more methods? in compa	he next five y than five year yes up yes up arison to
Availability of Data	Does your institution 2. How would you rate the force on ventional methods Cost of Data Collection Cost of Data Processing Time-demand Size of Staff	on have e	attributes	e with he susing h	nedonics	During to In more methods? in compa	he next five y than five year yes up yes up arison to
3. For how many goods are you employing hedonic methods?	Does your institution 2. How would you rate the force to be a conventional methods Cost of Data Collection Cost of Data Processing Time-demand Size of Staff Necessary Experience	on have e	attributes	e with he susing h	nedonics	During to In more methods? in compa	he next five y than five year yes up yes up arison to
	Does your institution 2. How would you rate the force on ventional methods Cost of Data Collection Cost of Data Processing Time-demand Size of Staff Necessary Experience Volume of Data	on have e	attributes	e with he susing h	nedonics	During to In more methods? in compa	he next five y than five year yes up yes up arison to
	Does your institution 2. How would you rate the force on ventional methods Cost of Data Collection Cost of Data Processing Time-demand Size of Staff Necessary Experience Volume of Data	on have e	attributes	e with he susing h	nedonics	During to In more methods? in compa	he next five y than five year yes up yes up arison to
	Does your institution 2. How would you rate the forconventional methods Cost of Data Collection Cost of Data Processing Time-demand Size of Staff Necessary Experience Volume of Data Availability of Data 3. For how many goods are years.	Much -2 	attributes 1 lower -1 -1	e with h s using h	aedonics 1	During to In more methods? in compa Much hig	the next five y than five year yes arison to

Please fill in one copy of Questionnaire 2 for each good, for which you are currently employing hedonic methods

Consumer Price Index CPI Producer Price Index PPI

Import Price Index IPI