

Call for Papers

This workshop is the third in a series on the economic impact of information and communication technologies (ICT), organized by the ICTNET and funded by the European Commission. Information on the two previous workshops can be found by clicking here: Parma and London workshops.

The goal of this workshop is to bring together leading researchers on the economics of information and communication technologies (ICT) in order to discuss recent scientific contributions and outstanding policy challenges.

Particular emphasis will be placed on ICT-enabled innovation, productivity and growth. Theoretical, empirical, experimental and policy oriented contributions are welcome.

Topics of Interest:

- ICT, productivity and growth at the firm, industry and country level
- Knowledge links within and between firms, and relationship to innovation
- ICT, knowledge flows and innovation networks
- Knowledge, growth and the crisis

Scientific Committee

Irene Bertsek (ZEW Mannheim, Germany),
Francesco Daveri (University of Parma, Italy),
Jonathan Haskel (Imperial College, London, UK),
Vincenzo Spiezia (OECD)

Keynote Speakers

Avi Goldfarb, University of Toronto
Marshall Van Alstyne, Boston University
Johannes Van Biesebroeck, K.U.Leuven

Workshop Venue

ZEW Center for European Economic Research

Paper Submissions

Deadline for papers or extended abstracts:

September 10, 2011

Acceptance decision:

September 19, 2011

Please send your paper in PDF format to:

ictnet@ict-net.eu

Registration for the workshop

Participants are required to register no later than 25 September 2011. No fee is requested however; if you intend to participate please send an e-mail to ictnet@ict-net.eu

Travel and Accommodation

For participants who present a paper, travel expenses (advance ticket/low cost fare) and accommodation will be covered by the ICTNET Research Network.

All participants will be responsible for arranging their own travel and accommodation.

Hotel close to the ZEW

Official Workshop Language

The official language of this workshop will be English.

Contacts

For further information on this workshop please contact the workshop team via email: ictnet@ict-net.eu