

CALL FOR PAPERS

// MIFE ANNUAL CONFERENCE AND EARLY CAREER WORKSHOP

The future of financial education: Aiming for effectivity, sustainability and inclusion

20 – 22 November 2023 | Mannheim · Germany

The objective of the one day MIFE conference (Nov 20) is to discuss recent scientific contributions on financial literacy and financial education and implications for policy and practice, with a specific focus on effectivity, sustainability and inclusion.

KEYNOTE LECTURES

- Jens Brandenburg (Parliamentary Secretary of State at the Federal Ministry of Education and Research)
- Bernadene de Clercq (University of South Africa)
- Annamaria Lusardi (George Washington University und Global Financial Literacy Excellence Center)
- Tom Lucey (Illinois State University)

We are pleased to organise the 3rd interdisciplinary MIFE Workshop for Early Career Researchers (21 – 22 November). We invite early career researchers from the fields of economics, household finance, economics and business education, psychology, and related disciplines to submit their papers. Jointly with the sponsor Deutsche Bundesbank, we will award the Early Career Research Prize on Financial Literacy (up to two prizes for € 2,500 each) for outstanding contributions. Please note that the submission must include the following documents: a paper manuscript and a cover letter (the details specified in the guidelines must be observed, please see www.uni-mannheim.de/bbk-financial-literacy-prize.)

PAPER SUBMISSION: WORKSHOP FOR EARLY CAREER RESEARCHERS

Papers should be submitted as a PDF file to MIFeconference@zew.de. The deadline for submissions is 15 September 2023. Acceptance decisions will be communicated by mid-October 2023. Authors are asked to identify themselves as PhD students, postdocs or young assistant professors when submitting their paper in order to be considered for the workshop and the prize. Please be sure to follow the submission guidelines, which can be found HERE.

If you have any questions, please contact: MIFeconference@zew.de.

TOPICS OF INTEREST

Financial literacy and financial decision-making | design and effectiveness of financial education | understanding of monetary policy measures/ institutions and their effectiveness | assessment and handling of financial risks | digitalisation and financial literacy | credit knowledge/ borrowing/ repayment behaviour/ over-indebtedness | financial resilience and financial literacy | and related topics.

SCIENTIFIC PROGRAMME COMMITTEE

Rob Alessie (University of Groningen) · Carmela Aprea (University of Mannheim) · Tabea Bucher-Koenen (ZEW and University of Mannheim) · Paola Iannello (Catholic University of Sacred Heart Milan)

ORGANISING COMMITTEE

Carmela Aprea · Ronja Baginski · Tabea Bucher-Koenen · Bennet Janssen · Julia Harder

REGISTRATION

Participation is free of charge. Participants on site are expected to cover their own travel and accommodation costs. The MIFE conference and workshop are planned as face-to-face events. Digital participation will be possible on 20 November.

