18th ZEW Summer Workshop for Young Economists

Structural Models for Policy Evaluation

Mannheim, July 4 – 7, 2016

The Centre for European Economic Research (ZEW) is pleased to invite submissions for its 18th Summer Workshop for Young Economists in Mannheim on July 4 to 7, 2016. This year's objective is to discuss recent developments and empirical applications of structural models for policy evaluation. The workshop aims at bringing together promising international doctoral students and postdoctoral fellows for four days of intense training by renowned international scholars. The summer school will include lectures by three leading economists and paper presentations allowing the participants to present and discuss their work, and get advice from the lecturers.

Young scholars who wish to attend the workshop are invited to submit a paper. Papers should use a structural approach to the evaluation of economic policies. We particularly welcome applications from the fields of labour economics and public finance.

Keynote Lectures: Jérôme Adda (Bocconi University)
Christopher Flinn (New York University)
Jean-Marc Robin (Sciences Po and University College London)

Participants: Advanced doctoral students and postdocs within three years after completion of their thesis are invited to submit a paper. The ZEW Summer Workshop is open to a maximum of 20 participants. There are no participation fees. However, travel and accommodation expenses have to be covered by the participants. Researchers interested in participating should submit a full paper version (preliminary versions are welcome) and a CV no later than April 1, 2016 via www.zew.de/summerworkshop2016.
