

Michael Leahy has spent 10 years as Head of Policy in Enterprise Ireland. Enterprise Ireland is responsible for the development of indigenous firms in the manufacturing and internationally traded services sectors. Among the primary functions of the Policy Department is the development of new and appropriate financial incentives for client firms. It is also responsible for the evaluation of their impact. Michael has developed significant expertise in state aids and their impact on the development of financial incentives.

Prior to Enterprise Ireland, Michael worked for 12 years with the central Bank of Indonesia developing credit programmes for micro enterprises.